

(i)View Saves the Day

(i)View has been put to the test in real world environments for the past year now and according to our users it's performed above and beyond what they've expected. One such user is so impressed he offered to give us a testimonial.

VoIP Phone Technician, Jeff Pinnow, has used (i)View since its initial launch and loves discovering new capabilities for the device.

"I've used equipment like the (i)View in the past, but nothing else has everything in one package," said Pinnow.

Many of the (i)View users feel the same way. They've purchased monitoring programs, remote access programs and device backup systems separately in the past. With the (i)View you can get everything in one device, on one easy to use platform.

Pinnow has also been utilizing the (i)View Netcheck feature a lot, he says it lets his customers rest assure that their VoIP implementations will run smoothly and that their networks can handle the new traffic.

In his testimonial he highlights a specific time when (i)View was able to help him out during an install. Check out the quick video by following the link below.
