

CSM joins UC Management Group

As of recent, CSM has become a contributing member of the UC Management Group. This request came from the group's creator Kerry Shih, founder of Servera Inc. and developer who has helped launch more than 15 Managed Service offerings.

Tim Brennan, President of CSM, will be a contributing author and discussion board leader in the group. His invitation came as a result of his more than 20 years working in the industry and his advanced knowledge on how UC Management can offer solutions to most any business or organizations network needs.

The UC Management Group is an organization of experts that collaborate and publish the best advice, strategies and opinions about Managed Unified Communications to help further the industry. The contributors write and respond daily to member discussions or questions.
